

The University of Nairobi College of Health Sciences (CHS) Library held a Skype demo on SciFinder database at the E-Learning centre on 02/06/2016.

Staff and students drawn mainly from the School of Pharmacy and other departments at CHS participated in the demo that was organized by the library and the database providers.

This was to pave way for a proposed free trial period to be announced soon.

SciFinder is the most comprehensive database for Chemical literature indexing journal articles produced by Chemical Abstract Service (CAS) but goes beyond Chemistry.
